NEW PODCAST ALERT – Include This! A Movement for Disability Equity

Santa Maria, California – Include This! is not just a podcast. It’s a movement. The first of its kind, this space was deliberately created for critical conversations at eye level that lead to change. We want to change conversations, perceptions, and policies, but most importantly, we want to change mindsets and how we think about disability in America.

Include This! features an eclectic mix of guests, from academics and disability rights activists, to administrators, TEDx speakers, and musicians, each with a unique perspective, along with lived and professional experiences, that will challenge and motivate our listeners. Include This! gives listeners the space and time needed to really consider and understand another experience and perspective because that’s when real change can happen. At the end of each episode, guests will provide examples of how to take what’s been learned and put it into action, supporting listeners as they become change-agents in their own communities.

Include This! amplifies disabled voices, tackles the intersectionality that naturally exists for people living with disabilities, connects everyone through shared experiences, and works alongside our disability allies to unify the disability community. Each episode is built and crafted around a compelling topic, which we discuss with guests during a very direct and honest conversation. Include This! launches January 6, 2021. We invite YOU to join the conversation!
